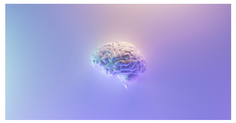
TOOLS FOR THOUGHT: INTERCHANGE PART 1

May 27th, 2021, hosted by

https://fission.codes

fission

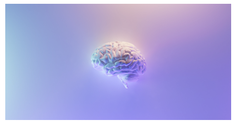


AGENDA

- Boris Mann, Fission: Agenda / Zoom Guidelines / Fission for TFTs
- Blaine Cook, Conde Nast: An overview of atJSON
- Jeremy Ruston: TiddlyWiki ebook conversion & tiddler formats
- Gordon Brander: Subtext, simple markup for note taking
- Christina Bowen: Social Roots, healthy teams and social coordination

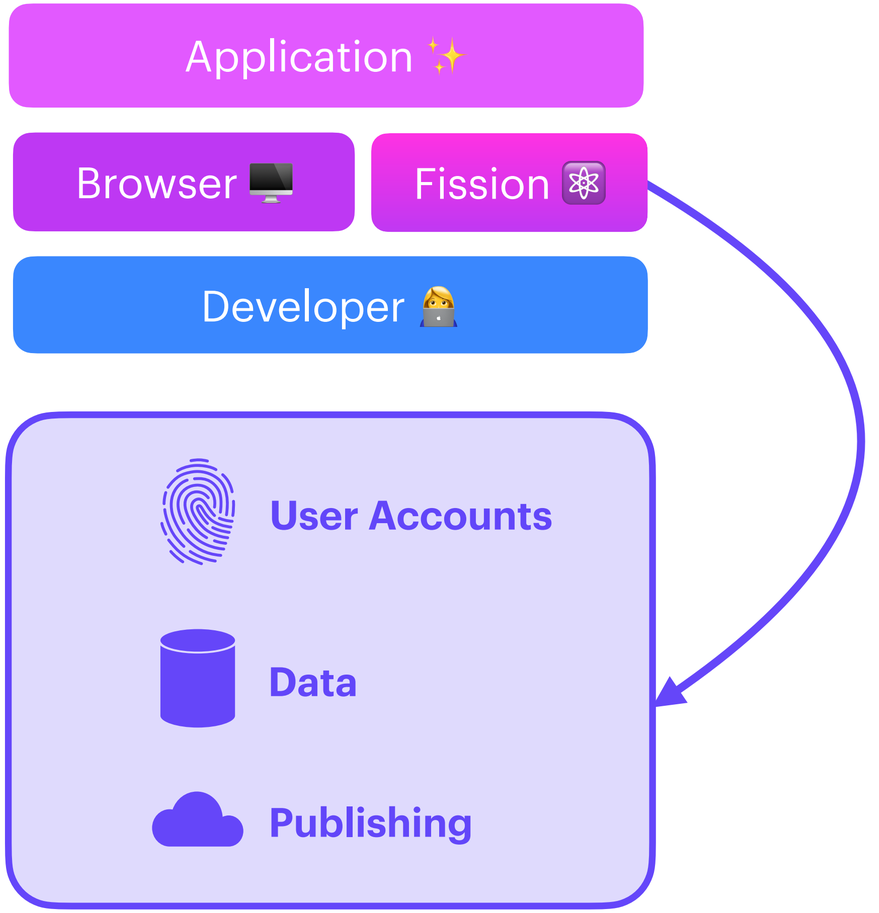
ZOOM GUIDELINES

- Please use the Q&A feature for questions
  - We'll cover them at the end of each presentation
- Some time for general questions & discussion at the end
  - We'll try "fishbowl style" depending on timing and interest
  - Use the "Raise Hand" feature
- Yes, we are recording! Will share video & notes by email to attendees



FISSION: BUILDING BLOCKS FOR TFT

- Building on top of IPFS as a global collaborative file system: public and private data, linked by content address and versioned
- Identity: portable, DID-based
- Data: user-centric, available on all devices
- Publishing: create apps, user subdomains & DNS automation
- Future: multi-player, collaborative editing, and datalog-inspired decentralized database



TOOLS FOR THOUGHT INTERCHANGE PART 2

- Iian Neill, Codex Editor: An overview of Standoff Editor concepts
- Brian James Rubinton, Kanopi: a graph-first tool for thought with RDF
- Frode Hegland, Augmented Text Company: Visual Meta and implementations on MacOS
- Register at https://lu.ma/fission
  - June 3rd, 6pm PDT / June 4th 11am Melbourne UTC+10

TOOLS FOR THOUGHT: INTERCHANGE PART 1

Comments, Feedback, Further Discussion https://talk.fission.codes/t/1880

fission